

The heap's own carbon and hydrogen reduce metals during condensation

